CHAPTER VI.
A ONE-SIDED TRIAL—ALMA JURNIEFF'S RESOLVE.

COLONEL JURNIEFF gazed coldly upon the prisoners when they were brought before him. Hassan was cringing and servile, begging for mercy; Harvey was straight and calm, but taciturn.

"This is an outrage upon an American citizen, and it will not go unpunished," he said. "You have no right to arrest me or prevent my traveling to Nijni Novgorod."

"What is your name?" asked the colonel.

"Harvey Irons."

"I remember that name—somehow in connection with a command. Ah, I have! Were you not ordered to leave Russia and never return?"

"No, I was not. I was told that if I came to Russia something would happen to me. It was not done by the order of the czar. It was merely an attempt to separate me from a young lady whom I love."

"So that was it," said the colonel, with a sneer. "You are sure it was not done by the order of the czar?"

"I am sure of it, for an investigation was made at my request by my minister, and he assured me that so far as the czar and his high ministers were concerned they had issued no such command. I was told I was at liberty to enter Russia to sell my goods at any time."

"After this remarkable investigation, as you call it, were you informed that you were at liberty to come to Russia and carry off her daughters?"

"No, nor have I any desire to carry them off—that is, save one, whom I shall marry sooner or later."

"May I ask the name of that one? Is it Koura Bartelkis?"

"No. I had nothing to do with that affair. And it is none of your business what the name of the other is."

"Insolent dog! Do you know who I am?"

"No, and I don't care."

"I will take some of the impudence out of you before I am done. I am Colonel Jurnieff."

"The uncle of Alma?"

"Yes, the uncle of Alma."

"Then you already knew the name of the girl I love, and your questions were simply perfunctory. I demand in justice that I be released."

"That will be settled later. Just now you are my prisoner. Take him to the prison of detention!"

Two soldiers forced Harvey to accompany them. Then Colonel Jurnieff fell into a study.

"This dog is right," he said. "The order was our own. This espionage under which we have kept him was not by order of the minister of police, but at the request of the general, my brother. I must silence him somehow. He is irrepressible and will do us harm. He must never be acquitted of this charge, no matter what the evidence may be. With Alma here and that fellow in Siberia there will be distance enough between them to save us from further care."

Harvey saw no one for several days

American told me his. They agreed in some respects, but differed in others. I found Koura Bartelkis on board, a prisoner, and brought her back to Tiflis and arrested Hassan and the American."

"O great ones of earth!" moaned Hassan when called upon to speak for himself. "It is with trembling tongue I attempt to tell even the truth, for what am I? What am I that I should speak to such as thee? But it was as I said and as I will say again. I came to the fair with my boat filled with rich stuffs to sell to the bazaar. I did well, excellencies, and made a profit on my goods, but it does not pay to hire sailors for two ways and carry goods only one, so I remained at the wharf waiting for a cargo to take to Astrakhan, where I knew there awaited me a valuable cargo to take to Astrakhan, but I waited too long, O excellencies, and it came time for me to depart without a cargo."

"In preparing to leave Tiflis I discovered some linen which I knew Ignatius Bartelkis would purchase. I could not wait till morning, for then I could not reach Astrakhan early enough to take on my cargo. I went to the bazaar of Bartelkis and told him of my discovery. Bartelkis was just closing his bazaar, and when he heard of the linen he and his daughter accompanied me back to my boat. I took them to my cabin and set wine before them and went to prepare the linen for examination. I was suddenly attacked and knocked down. A fold of cloth was placed in my mouth. I heard the young woman scream, but I could not go to her assistance."

"I heard Bartelkis begging for mercy and some one talking to him. Then some one took command of my boat, and we moved down the river. I was kept in ignorance for hours, your excellencies, but in the morning I was astonished to see two men on board that I had never seen before. One was a tall man, looking like a Russian, and the other was certainly an Osmanli. They informed me that unless I and my sailors did as I was bid I would be killed. They did not release me, but we kept on down the river. Just before we reached Salain they left the boat. They told me that Bartelkis had agreed to the sale of his daughter to an American who would board my boat at Salain and that I must take them both to Astrakhan. They told me that I would be watched and unless I obeyed I would be killed. They said I could not go back to Tiflis without being murdered."

"I was afraid, your excellencies, and did what they told me. At Salain, however, it was not my intention to take on the American, but to proceed until I reached a Russian gunboat, when I would turn over the young lady. But the American knew which boat she was on, for he came out in a small boat directly in my path and leaped on board. He threatened me with a pistol, and I was compelled to do his bidding. Seeing another vessel on the Caspian, I wished to get assistance from them, but they feared us and ran away. The gunboat came, and I told the officer the truth. I swear it, by the prophet's beard. I have told the truth. I know no more."

The magistrate turned coldly to Harvey. "All of what that man says is a lie," said Irons, "except the mere fact that I did get on his boat in the manner he describes at Salain. I had taken passage from Astrakhan for Astrakhan on a boat belonging to the German line. They had also some machinery I was going to exhibit at the fair. Arriving at Salain, the captain of the boat informed me that I would have four hours in which to see the town. I spent three hours and came back to the wharf only to see the steamer disappearing. I was enraged. I wanted particularly to reach the fair early, and there would not be a boat up the Volga for another week after the one I had lost. I was standing on the wharf talking with a peasant when I saw the boat owned by Hassan coming down the Kur. We hailed the boat and were informed that she was bound for Astrakhan. There I was, with a week to stay in that place and a boat passing me that was going straight to where I wanted to go. The peasant got a small boat and rowed me out to Hassan's. I climbed on board and remained there. I did not know until the officer from the gunboat came on board that there was a young lady there."

Colonel Jurnieff nodded, and another man, evidently of the poorest class, spoke to the magistrate. The dignitary started, stared at Harvey and said: "There appears to be a multitude of lies in all this testimony. Let us hear what this witness has to say."

"I saw that American in Tiflis a week ago," he said, pointing at Harvey. "I saw him in the bazaar of Bartelkis, and he spoke to him. I saw much gold change hands, but do not know what it was for. The American took nothing away."

"That is the worst lie of all!" exclaimed Harvey indignantly. "I was never in Tiflis before in my life."

"Take the prisoners back to their cells. The case needs deliberation," said the magistrate.

Harvey was marched to his dungeon. An orderly, who heard all the proceedings, hurried to relate them to Marie. From the moment that Alma Jurnieff heard what had taken place at the trial she was a changed person.

"So they have conspired between them to destroy the man I love," she said slowly and deliberately. "I have been a tame kitten in the hands of a tiger. I, too, have some of the tiger's blood, and I will show them the claws of another Jurnieff. I will save him or I will die with him. God help me and give me strength!"

WORLD IS WAITING

Little Definite Information
Comes From Theater of War Today.

ACTIVITIES ARE LIMITED

Opposing Forces Near Mukden Seem to Be Feeling the Positions of Their Adversaries.Japanese Will Bend All Their Forces to Taking Mukden For Winter
Headquarters.

Whatever may be happening in the far East, there is little definite information from any quarter. The armies in the vicinity of Mukden appear to be limiting their activities at present to feeling the positions of their adversaries. It is supposed to be the plan of the Japanese to possess themselves of the passes of the Da mountain range before making a direct movement on Mukden. Strategic and political considerations seem to make it essential that General Kuropatkin make a stand there and prevent the town from being made the winter headquarters of the Japanese, while the lack of adequate facilities elsewhere for the housing of troops during a rigorous Manchurian winter make it necessary that the Japanese bend all their energies to the capture of that town.

STILL A BLANK

The Port Arthur Situation Is Unknown to the World.

St. Petersburg, Sept. 22.—There is further delay in the receipt of decisive news from the front. The situation at Port Arthur remains a blank, though it is felt that important developments may be even now occurring there. The movements in the north are still of a tentative and preparatory character on both sides, which have not yet crystallized into a definite clash of forces at any one point. A resumption of the Japanese advance is now expected to occur any day. It is the third week since the fighting at Liao Yang, and the Japanese have had time to transport reinforcements from Yinkow and bring up sufficient men to the front to replace their losses, but it is not improbable that several days will intervene before the armies come to close quarters. The interval is being devoted on both sides to feeling out the strength and disposition of the opposing forces. The Japanese probably will attempt to capture the passes of the mountain range running half way between the Hun and the Taitse rivers. The possession of these passes is important for the Japanese, as it will not only enable them to march northward, but also screen the movements of their troops from the prying gaze of Russian scouts.

It is fully appreciated here that the Japanese must try for the possession of Mukden, as otherwise it will be difficult for them to provide the army with winter quarters. Liao Yang does not afford sufficient accommodations, although many houses there escaped destruction in the recent battle. Movable huts are quite unsuitable for the housing of the Japanese, owing to the severity of the climate. The average winter temperature there is 40 degrees below zero and the cold is intensified by continued winds and an almost entire absence of snow. In spite of this, however, the campaign probably will continue during the winter if the Japanese succeed in getting into Mukden. In this contingency General Kuropatkin for various reasons will not be likely to allow the Japanese to remain in undisturbed possession of this point, which is important not only from a strategic but a political point of view.

Rumors Are Denied.

Buenos Ayres, Sept. 22.—Senator Betbeder, minister of marine of the Argentine republic, was interviewed regarding the report that four warships purchased from Argentina had been added to the Russian Baltic squadron at Lipau. The minister authorized the statement that the report was without any foundation whatever, and further that there was no basis for rumors of the sale of Argentine warships. All the warships of this republic are at present berthed in Argentine waters.

Grows Not Disturbed.

Shanghai, Sept. 22.—It has finally been arranged that the crews of the Russian cruiser Askold and the torpedo boat destroyer Grozovoi, which took refuge here after the naval battle off Port Arthur Aug. 10, and which subsequently dismantled, shall remain on board their vessels. They will be granted occasional short leaves.

Russian Squadron Desperate.

Shanghai, Sept. 22.—A Chinese who left Port Arthur last Monday reports that owing to the incessant bombardment of the harbor by the Japanese the Russian fleet is determined to break out this week and endeavor to reach Tsingtau, the German port on the Shantung peninsula.

Forgery Is Charged.

St. Joseph, Mo., Sept. 22.—The grand jury has indicted W. H. Harroun, the grain plunger, on seven counts for forgery in the third degree.

GOT THROUGH SAFELY

King Peter Gets a Crown and Still Has His Head.

Belgrade, Sept. 22.—The coronation ceremonies closed last night with a gala performance at the theater, which was attended by King Peter, the royal family and the principal officials of the kingdom. The streets, which were gaily illuminated, were thronged until a late hour. No accident of any kind was reported throughout the day, and a great sense of relief is experienced both by the public and the officials concerned, that the first coronation in Serbia for five centuries and which, owing to the tragic circumstances surrounding the disappearance of the previous dynasty, had been anticipated with the liveliest apprehension, passed off so satisfactorily.

The ceremonial was well arranged and impressive. Wherever King Peter appeared he was greeted with enthusiastic cheers and his nervous pallor may have been attributed to hunger, as the Greek church prescribes a fast of forty-eight hours before receiving communion, and during that period the king partook of only tea and fruit.

CHANGE OF HEAD

George McCulloch Resigns as President of Traction Companies.

Philadelphia, Sept. 22.—At meetings of the boards of directors of the Indiana Union and Indianapolis Northern Traction companies held here, George F. McCulloch, following his purpose, announced some months ago, resigned the presidency and was elected chairman of the board of directors of each company, and as such will continue in active connection with the property. Arthur W. Brady was elected president of each company. Mr. Brady, who is a brother-in-law of Mr. McCulloch, has been a member of the board of directors, secretary and general counsel for the two companies for the past two years and is familiar with their management. Since the removal of the Indianapolis offices to Anderson in January last, as one of the vice presidents he has had much of the responsibility of the presidency. Mr. Brady said he would remove his residence from Indianapolis to Anderson and devote his entire time to the duties of his new position.

Serious Injury to Mrs. Mansfield.
New London, Conn., Sept. 22.—Mrs. Richard Mansfield, wife of the actor, was seriously injured by being thrown from her horse near her summer home in this city. An automobile frightened her horse. It stumbled and pitched her to the ground, falling on her. Mr. Mansfield, who was in New York, started on a special train accompanied by a specialist, who said that Mrs. Mansfield's spine is seriously wrenched and that she is badly bruised about the body.

New Bishop of Kentucky.
Louisville, Ky., Sept. 22.—The Rev. Arthur S. Lloyd of New York, secretary of the Episcopal board of missions, was elected bishop of the Protestant Episcopal diocese of Kentucky by the diocesan council. An election was made on the sixteenth ballot.

Alleged Bandit Arrested.
Danville, Ill., Sept. 22.—Henry Mathews, alias Brown, one of the colored bandits who held up and robbed the Eighteenth street elevated station, Chicago, Sept. 12, has been arrested here. Mathews was traced here from Pittsburg.

Gorman Gets Busy.
New York, Sept. 22.—Senator Gorman of Maryland has actively taken up his duties as an advisor to the Democratic national committee.

NINE KILLED OUTRIGHT

Several Others Were Fatally Injured and at Least a Score Receive
Serious Injuries.Box of Dynamite Dropped From Express
Wagon and Crowded Car
Runs Into It.

Melrose, Mass., Sept. 22.—An outward bound Boston electric car was blown to pieces at 8 o'clock last night in this town. Nine persons were killed outright, several fatally injured and at least fifteen severely hurt. It is thought that the car struck a charge of dynamite left on the track. The front dashboard of the car was hurled more than fifty feet.

The immediate vicinity presented a fearful spectacle. The ground was strewn with legs, arms and other portions of human bodies. So great was the force of the explosion that two men standing in the door of a store fifty feet away were severely injured by the flying pieces, while every window within a radius of a quarter of a mile was broken. The car contained mostly workmen on their way to their homes in this city. When rescuers reached the scene of the accident the sight was appalling. The ground was covered with the torn and mangled bodies of the dead and writhing forms of the injured.

It later developed that the car struck a fifty-pound box of dynamite that had fallen off an express wagon. The following dead have been identified: Dr. Malcolm E. McLannan, Melrose Highlands; E. E. Haynes, Melrose; Winfield Rowe, Saugus, Mass., motorman; E. A. Stowe, South Boston; Fred D. Marshall, Boston. The unidentified dead were three women and a three-year-old girl.

The police arrested Roy Fenton, driver of an express wagon. Fenton, it was learned, was carrying two fifty-pound boxes of dynamite on his wagon and did not know until he reached the express office that one of the boxes had dropped off. He hurried back in the hope of picking it up, but the electric car reached the box first.

NEW BUSINESS FOR MORGAN

Financier Will Take Over Great Salmon Packing Concern.

Bellingham, Wash., Sept. 22.—J. Pierpont Morgan, with Richard Delafield and several other well-known Eastern capitalists who are the principal creditors of the Pacific Packing and Navigation company, will purchase the entire properties of that company as soon as the necessary orders are made out in the courts, and will reorganize the company and conduct the business on a new basis.

The Pacific Packing and Navigation company is the most extensive company in the world engaged in the industry of salmon canning. The main offices of the company are in this city. The capitalization of the company is $25,000,000, and it operates twenty-eight canneries in Alaska and on Puget sound. The company has about fifty vessels in operation.

ARMISTICE CONCLUDED

Uruguay's Civil Quarrel Now Seems About Over.

Montevideo, Uruguay, Sept. 22.—The bases of peace between the government of Uruguay and the Uruguayan revolutionary forces have been formulated by President Ordóñez and accepted in principle by the revolutionists. An armistice has been concluded and peace appears to be assured. The peace terms are that the revolutionists shall surrender their arms, and that the government shall agree not to interfere with the property of the revolutionists and that complete electoral freedom be granted.

Long Strike Broken.

New York, Sept. 22.—William E. Nason, president of the Building Trades Alliance, resigned his position yesterday as head of the forces opposing the Building Trades Employers' association in the strike and lockout in this city and quitted the alliance, taking his own union, the Reliance Labor Club of Marblecutters, back to work immediately. Nason's union went to work today under the general arbitration plan which was signed last year with the employers' association by the Reliance club.

Will Be on Safe Side.

Alexandria, Ind., Sept. 22.—The city council has employed expert accountants to audit the books of the former administration. While there is no direct charge of crookedness, yet as a measure of precaution and to silence rumors of maladministration the investigation was ordered.

Chinese Rights Infringed.

Shanghai, Sept. 22.—It is said that China will object to the Anglo-Tibetan treaty on the ground that it infringes on the Chinese sovereign rights.

Adams Still Running.

Denver, Col., Sept. 22.—Alva A. Adams of Pueblo was for a third time nominated for governor last night by Colorado Democrats.

Probable Tragedy of the Lake.

Chicago, Sept. 22.—Fears are entertained for the safety of the steamer Louisiana which left Escanaba, Mich., last Saturday morning just before the great gale on Lake Michigan, and it is believed that the boat with her crew of sixteen men has gone to the bottom. The steamer left Escanaba with a cargo of iron ore, and headed across the end of the lake for the straits of Mackinaw. No report has been received of her passing that point or any other point lower on the lake.

Syrians Not Wanted.

Port au Prince, Hayti, Sept. 22.—The Haytian government has accorded the Syrian residents of Hayti a last delay of six months to enable them to liquidate their affairs and leave the country.

PIANO PLAYED PART.

How Music Helped Cecilia Win Germany's Diadem

When the betrothal of Fredrick William, the Crown Prince of Germany to the charming Dutchess Cecilia of Mecklenburg-Schwerin was announced, probably not more than four or five Chicagoans realized the connection between that city and the romance that concerned the destiny of the Hohenzollern dynasty. The Duchess, whose brother is Grand Duke of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, and whose eldest sister is the wife of the Crown Prince of Denmark, is a beautiful and talented young girl of seventeen summers. She is sensible, charming and accomplished and has marked musical ability. Her renditions of "Beethoven," "Mozart," "Chopin," "Bach," and others have excited wide spread comment for the talent displayed. She is devotedly fond of the old masters, especially those of the German school of music. The fact has now transpired that the instrument through which she won her way to a Queen's diadem was made in Chicago. It is a product of the "Melville Clark" Piano Co. Mr. Clark, whose pianos are to be found in many of the European royal courts, where they have been lauded by more than one crowned head, presented one to the German Crown prince some years ago through his agent in Hamburg. Another found its way into the palace of the Mecklenburg-Schwerins. Cecilia was charmed with the instrument, and while there were several pianos in the palace, she awarded the place of favorite to the "Melville Clark."

The Crown Prince is an accomplished musician and proficient violinist. The Emperor, too, has one in his Court and has given a number of recitals in his Court on his piano.

The national aptitude of the German race for music is illustrated in the daily life of the land's royalty.—From Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Melville Clark Piano is being sold here in our own city by Mrs. O. S. Guernsey and has excited the admiration of scores of people by its sweet musical tone and magnificent appearance.

Tom Watson Says.

"The mass of the Democratic party feel outraged at the way in which their leaders sold them to Wall street. I do not believe that the six and a half million men who followed Bryan, with cheers on their lips and warm convictions in their hearts, can now be delivered like cattle to the Clevelandites who knifed the ticket or bolted it in 1896. I believe that the great majority of the men who voted for Bryan are men of conviction; I can but hope that they will realize that I am fighting their battles now."—Thomas E. Watson, one of Bryan's running mates in 1896.

COMPARISON OF FIGURES.

Showing the Cost of Building Association Loans and Ordinary Loans.

A comparison of the cost of a loan of $1,400 on ordinary note and of the same amount borrowed through the CO-OPERATIVE BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION of Seymour, Indiana, is both interesting and instructive showing in each case the amount paid back by the borrower.

Ordinary Note Loan.

Principal.....	$1,000 00
Interest 6 per cent for 6 years.....	360 00
Total.....	$1,360 00

Building Association Loan.

Initiation fee, 10 shares.....	2 50
Premium 6 per cent, payable only once.....	60 00
Interest 6 per cent for 6 years.....	360 00
Dues $2.50 per week for 6 years.....	780 00
Total.....	$1,202 50

Bal. favor of association $ 157 50

In this comparison it is estimated that six years will be required for the building association stock to mature. As a matter of fact all the stock thus far has matured in less than six years. This gives the association still further advantage as less dues and interest would be paid. Besides the payments in the building association are made in small amounts every week and are much easier to meet than the larger amount in one lump sum.

New series "G" will start Monday, October 3, and stock may be taken either for investment or loan. For full particulars see W. F. Peter, Sec.

MILL'S DARK HORSE

Won an Exciting Race in New York State Convention.

Saratoga, N. Y., Sept. 22.—Out of a situation which at times seemed almost impossible of amicable solution, the leaders of the Democratic party found a way to unanimous action and late yesterday afternoon the state convention adjourned without day after having nominated unanimously a ticket headed by D. Cadv Herick for governor and Francis Burton Harrison for lieutenant governor.

Former United States Senator David B. Hill himself presented to the convention the name of Supreme Court Justice Daniel Cadv Herick of Albany. Judge Herick's name was received with great enthusiasm and endorsed with cordial speeches of support by representatives of three of the elements whose attitude had been an important factor in the serious situation which had formed the subject of so many conferences. Incidentally Senator Hill was accorded a reception which was little less than an ovation.

A notable feature of the convention was the disappearance of all open evidence of the factional warfare between the Kings county organization headed by State Senator McCarren and Tammany Hall under the leadership of Chas. F. Murphy. The platform adopted includes a direct personal attack upon Governor Odell as well as a denunciation of the Republican administration, an endorsement of the Democratic national ticket, platform and resolutions and strongly worded discussion of state and national issues from the Democratic point of view. Justice Herick was essentially a compromise candidate as between Edward M. Groat of Brooklyn, comptroller of Greater New York, and Edward M. Shepard, also of Brooklyn, who practically drove each other from the field. Mr. Shepard being finally dropped from consideration because of the opposition of Senator McCarren and the Kings county organization. Mr. Groat because of the positive opposition of Tammany Hall.

Pennsylvania Republican Clubs.

Reading, Pa., Sept. 22.—The first day's meeting of the convention of the Pennsylvania League of Republican Clubs was followed last night by a monster parade and a mass meeting in the Academy of Music, with an overflow gathering in a nearby hall. United States Senator Fairbanks made the principal speech of the evening.

Defendant Wept Bitterly.

Charlottesville, Va., Sept. 22.—Ex-Mayor J. Samuel McCue, accused of wife murder, was arraigned before Judge Morris, of the Charlottesville corporation court, and entered a plea of not guilty. When McCue entered the court room where he had so often followed his law practice, he broke down and wept bitterly.

Emergency Medicines.

It is a great convenience to have a hand reliable remedies for use in case of accident and for slight injuries and ailments. A good liniment and one that is fast becoming a favorite if not a household necessity is Chamberlain's Pain Balm. By applying it promptly to a cut, bruise or burn it allays the pain and causes the injury to heal in about one-third the time usually required, and as it is an antiseptic it prevents any danger of blood poisoning. When Pain Balm is kept at hand a sprain may be treated before inflammation sets in, which insures a quick recovery. For sale by C. W. Milhous.
